

Carruth Is Reluctant Candidate

By ROBERT SHAW
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — In 1968, Walter Carruth of Lexa was asked to collect signatures to place George Wallace's name on Arkansas' presidential ballot.

He agreed to, and for him, personally, "everything seems to have gotten out of hand then."

A political notice drafted off his East Arkansas farm to serve as chairman of the American Party of Arkansas at its birth April 20, 1968, Carruth served as a coordinator of the successful Wallace campaign in the state and was a force in holding the fledgling party together through the tumultuous days of Jim Johnson's influence, and, today is the party's candidate for governor.

A reluctant candidate, he says.

"I had rather not run," Carruth says flatly. "This is not a position I chose. It was forced on me completely."

He says of last Saturday night's nominating convention that proposed him for governor, "Our people were looking for someone they could trust completely not to sell them out."

Carruth, 38, accepted the nomination only on condition that he would withdraw from the race if another party produces a candidate who espouses the principles shared by the American Party.

He is in the race to stay and will wage a vigorous campaign if no one comes forth, he says. He has already paid his $2,500 filing fee and may complete his filing today with Secretary of State Kelly Bryant.

Carruth declined in an interview to make a judgment on whether any of the announced candidates measured up to APA standards. The party will judge carefully, he said, to make sure that a candidate who appears to be one it could support is not trying to "appease" the APA.

candidate comes forward," he said. "This could happen, but I am not going to try to tell a candidate what to say. If he did it I would doubt his sincerity." Carruth said he received a telephone call Sunday from a Democratic candidate whom he declined to identify. "He wound up wanting me to tell him what we would like for him to say," Carruth said. "I assume he wanted our party's support but I won't go that far with him."

Carruth was born in Phillips County about 50 yards from his present home, from which he directs the farming of cotton, soybeans and rice on 480 acres he owns and another 300 he is renting. Some of the land was handed down to his family as a grant for service in the War of 1812.

Carruth spent two years in three colleges, Central Baptist College then at Little Rock and now at Conway, Arkansas A&M College and State College of Arkansas, before devoting full time to farming.

He and his wife Elizabeth have three sons and a daughter. The oldest son, Layne, 16, was Arkansas' representative at a recent space seminar sponsored by Boy Scouts at Cape Kennedy.

How did Carruth matriculate to politics?
"I really don't know," he said. "I've been terribly concerned with the diff to the left in the nation. That's a poor word to use, but there were many things — the advent of what I considered damaging to the well-being of the nation."

He said he had always considered himself "an individual who voted for the candidate I thought best, like Goldwater in 1964."

"I guess this was the first Republican vote I cast," Carruth said. "I considered myself a Southern Democrat ... but I don't hold parties as being quite so important as what the candidates do. What they stand for is far more important."

Building Is Remodeled by School Kids

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP) —

Roosevelt Elementary School is small, 45 years old and due to be abandoned in 1975. The school district, therefore, has given it only minimum maintenance.

The classrooms looked worn and shabby—until the kids took paint brushes in hand and started swinging.

Now you can color it the brightest school in town. Its 13 classrooms and the exterior too are being daubed with fresh paint in a do-it-yourself project involving the 490 students, their teachers and many of their parents.

Roosevelt school is in the inner city area of this community of 200,000. An estimated 75 per cent of its pupils are Mexican-American and 10 per cent Negro.

"The teachers and I sat down together to discuss how to get parents involved," says Principal Don Tibbets. "We had been having a hard time getting a parents organization started, and we figured one way would be to paint the school. It's been 12 years since the last job."

"The idea caught on with everyone. It quickly spread from school to homes. The kids find it fun. Many have never painted before. Most live in rented homes. Suddenly parents who had never been inside the school started coming in to help."

A bunch of first-graders began the job. They scraped the sanded with such vigor they rubbed holes in the plaster, and at one point went through a molding into a nest of termites.

Students select the colors. The district provides paint and equipment. Classes continue as usual, with some pupils studying while others wield brushes. Four rooms have been completed and if the job isn't done this semester work will resume come fall.

Tibbets says the children have developed a proprietary interest in the job. "They'll point to a freshly tinted door or wall and say, 'I did it; that's mine.' They're proud of this school, even as beat up as it is—it's theirs."

Weather

Experiment Station report for 24 hours ending at 7 a.m. Friday: High 85, Low 68, with a trace of rain.

Forecasts
ARKANSAS — Scattered thunderstorms most numerous northeast portion early tonight. Chance of some being locally severe. Thunderstorm activity ending during the night with isolated activity Saturday afternoon. Variable cloudiness tonight, becoming partly cloudy Saturday. High Saturday upper 80s and low 90s. Low tonight 60s and low 70s.

A tornado touched down in the Springdale area Thursday night, leaving one dead and several others injured, in addition to undetermined property damage.

During the night much of Central and Western Arkansas was under a severe weather area, but Springdale was the hardest hit.

The turbulent weather is expected to subside momentarily as a system of moist air controls the Arkansas weather scene. However, the U.S. Weather Bureau says that a cold front expected to move into the state this weekend will bring more stormy weather.

Highs Thursday ranged from 90 at Jonesboro to 79 at Fayetteville andarrison.

Overnight lows were Fayetteville, 62; Harrison, 60; Jonesboro, 69; Pine Bluff, 75; Texarkana, 76; El Dorado, 75; Memphis, 74; Little Rock, 73; and Fort Smith 65.

Precipitation recorded during the 24-hour period ending at 7 a.m. today included .89 of an inch of rain at Fayetteville; 1.45 at Harrison; .21 at Jonesboro; .01 at Pine Bluff; and a trace at Memphis and Little Rock.

GIFT FOR MUSEUM

CHICAGO (AP) — A set of first-edition copies of John James Audubon's "The Birds of America," has been presented to the Field Museum of Natural History.

The anonymous donor's folio, published in four volumes by Audubon in 1827-38, was purchased for him by Kenneth Nebenzahl, a Chicago rare books dealer, at auction in London on Nov. 24, 1969.

The set contains 448 plates engraved in aquatint and colored by hand from original drawings made by Audubon during his 25 years in the United States in the early 1800s.

One of two in existence, the original ownership of the folio was traced to Miss Euphemia Gifford, Derby, England, cousin and close friend of Audubon's wife.

A four-draw mahogany cabinet, designed by Audubon, in which the set has been kept, helps to account for the folio's fine condition.

Riley Hopes To Improve State Gov.

By TOMMY YATES
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Dr. Bob Riley of Arkadelphia is out to improve state government by making it easier for the guy on the street to understand the inner workings.

Riley, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor, projects the theory that if the legislative process is simplified, the public will be better informed on what is happening and the burden on the legislature would be relieved somewhat.

"The legislative process is very difficult to understand," Riley said in an interview. "The public seeing the legislature in action perhaps gets the false impression of what they are there to do."

"There is kind of a mystique about it ... but there are ways it can be improved and there are specific ways it can be geared to perform in a much more effective way," he said.

He said the legislature "does a great job considering all the handicaps under which it operates," and that he, if elected, would "lend my efforts and offer my leadership" to streamlining legislative functions.

Riley, a professor of political science at Ouachita Baptist University, is an ordained minister and is currently serving as parliamentarian of the Arkansas House.

He has just completed a revision of the House's parliamentary rules.

"The real essence of the parliamentary process is parliamentary law," he said. "What he proposes to do is give equality to every member."

In overhauling the House rules, Riley said much of the archaic and obsolete language was removed. "We restructured it so that it had a beginning, a middle and an end and then put in a complete and easily used index, something that was not in the old rules," he said.

"Under the new rules, any rule can be found instantly and this again improves the equality I'm talking about," he said. "Even a new member (of the House) would have no problem using the rules and this closes the gap between mystery (of the legislative process) and performance."

As a professional parliamentarian, the chance to be lieutenant governor and being able to preside over a legislative body is a very attractive thing, Riley said. "You can really be instrumental in helping to bring a good deal of cooperation among elements that may have seemed factious, but given the opportunity they perform very well," he said.

Riley said the legislative branch is supposed to be an equivalent branch of government but because of constitutional restrictions it is not allowed to be.

The legislature meets every two years for 60 day sessions and "everybody I know thinks it should be a full-time operation."

Riley said there should be interim committees meeting full time on various subjects and that there should be special committees meeting year-round, taking testimony and gathering data.

Adequate staffs would have to be provided for this, he said, but when the legislature did convene there would be something substantive to go on. "You wouldn't have all this waiting around, lost motion, because all the research would be completed and the legislature would be ready to perform."

He said he had talked with persons from other states and that they, and he, feel that a legislature given this type of format could operate very effectively.

The legislature is hampered in all states, Riley said. However, he said he thought the legislature would have to strengthen itself and "to construct this apparatus through which it can perform year-round."

The Legislative Council is the one-of-session arm of the legislature at present. Riley said he did not think the council should have less authority but that the council is understaffed and is "just taxed up to and beyond their limit."

He said the office of lieutenant governor is of "considerable prominence and if you have someone in that office who can

McMath May Obituaries

By BILL SIMMONS
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Former Gov. Sidney S. McMath of Little Rock, wrestling with thoughts of running for governor, said today that he will have a statement Friday on his political intentions.

In recent days, a revival has been noted in long-circulating rumors that McMath this year will fulfill the biennial talk that he once more will seek the office he held for two terms, 1948-52.

"I haven't ruled it out," he told an interviewer.

Weeks ago, McMath told newsmen that while the race was on his mind, he likely would stay on the sidelines. Today, he stood by that position, but with the stipulation that he had shut no door.

"I'm just waiting to see who all gets in the race, for one thing," McMath said.

Friends and associates report privately that McMath, an attorney, earnestly wants to be a candidate. A few have been asked outright if they would support him for governor.

McMath said, though, that he has not made a final decision.

"I will do it by Friday," he said. "You can quote me."

On at least two occasions this year, McMath has made plans to publicly declare himself out of the Democratic gubernatorial nomination race, but then has postponed them.

Last month he took a leadership role in a bipartisan group that will campaign for adoption of the proposed new state constitution, and many believed that meant he would not run.

He could, however, vacate that job in favor of his own candidacy. The Friday deadline, according to a friend, likely is McMath's way of compelling himself to reach a decision. The filing deadline is noon Tuesday.

McMath's thinking is known to be closely concerned with the possible candidacy of Ted Boswell of Bryant, who ran third in the party's 1968 gubernatorial primary. Boswell fell 409 votes short of making the runoff.

Some McMath associates say that the former governor and Boswell would draw their basic support from generally the same class of voters, and that the two men had acknowledged this to each other.

Once source said McMath and Boswell were agreed that only one of them should run, but McMath said he had not spoken with Boswell, also an attorney.

"I don't know what he plans to do," McMath said. "I'm not sure what I'm going to do. Chances are, I won't run, but I just haven't quite let go of the possibility yet."

Survey On Addicts Is 18,000

By ROBERT A. HUNT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A house-to-house survey of a 40-block area of Harlem turned up 18,000 hard drug addicts including 2,000 children between the ages of seven and 15, Congress has been told.

And 90 per cent of those children lived by themselves.

The result of the survey was supplied to a House Appropriations subcommittee last April by Dr. Stanley F. Yolles, then director of the National Institute of Mental Health.

Dr. Yolles, in the closed-door testimony made public today, said that "in the area of hard narcotics and especially heroin addiction, I believe the committee would be interested to know that a brief survey was done in Harlem, a house-to-house survey of tenants in a 40-block area."

"The results of that survey showed that there were 22,000 adults, some 30,000 children, and some 6,000 individuals who lived in streets and alleys in this 40-block area."

"Of that number, there were 10,000 addicted adults, 6,000 children between the ages of 16 and 21 who were addicted and 2,000 children between the ages of seven and 15 who were addicted."

"Of the 2,000 children, aged seven to 15, 90 per cent lived by themselves without the presence of an adult in their immediate environment. This is what we are dealing with in the United States."

Dr. Yolles, who has since resigned, said it is estimated there now are between 100,000 and 150,000 hard narcotics addicts in the nation.

"I think we are all aware of the epidemic, if you will call it that, of drug abuse and hard narcotics usage in New York City," he said. "We are approaching the rate of three deaths per day from overdose of narcotics in New York City."

"Mostly juveniles?" asked subcommittee chairman Daniel J. Flood, D-Pa.

"Yes sir, a high percentage of them are juveniles," Dr. Yolles replied. In the first third of this year there were 170 deaths from overdoses of narcotics in New York City, he said. "During 1969 there were some 900 deaths, of which 224 were teenagers. That rate is still going up."

Dr. Yolles said the problem, is not restricted to the United States.

Earthquake Relief Is Moving Along

ANTA, Peru (AP) — Earthquake relief operations were slow getting started, but they are moving along now, and a dirt strip at this village in the Huaylas Canyon has become the busiest airport in South America.

From dawn to dusk every day, planes haul food, medicine and other supplies into the canyon from Lima and the port city of Chimbote. They fly out with survivors — injured or unhurt — of the May 31 quake, which killed 50,000 persons.

Juan Cardinal Landazuri-Ricketts flew to Anta Wednesday to see the relief operation and to comfort the survivors. Officials said his visit was "worth a ton of medicine."

Peruvian authorities reported the third loss of an aircraft in a week of relief flights. The National Information Office said a Peruvian air force helicopter crashed near the town of Cajacay and three persons aboard were killed.

Earlier in the day, an Argentine Fokker F27 with seven persons aboard was reported missing en route from Lima to Anta. Last Saturday an American helicopter flying into the canyon was smashed against a hillside by a strong downdraft.

The two crewmen and nine passengers were not injured, but the helicopter was destroyed.

One of the big twin-rotor Chinook helicopters sent from the United States made its first flight into the canyon Wednesday, hauling in relief supplies and carrying out stretcher cases to Lima.

HELEN HELP US!
by Helen Bottel

THEY "FIGHT" FOR LOVE AND PEACE
Dear Helen:
Can someone tell me how a generation whose "biggest" phrase is "Love and Peace" can justify burning buildings, rioting, shouting four-letter words at speakers, storming college offices and demanding their "non-negotiable rights" with raised fists?
And how can barricading a busy freeway, so that hundreds of people are late to work, possibly do anything to stop the war? When they burn down a bank, is this helping the cause of peace? I wonder if those who begin such riots are really interested in ending the war, or in starting a revolution? And how can otherwise sane students get carried away by the mob to such an extent that they become a part of it?
Heaven knows I'm for world peace and for changes in our educational system and our country, but not by violence!
When will young people learn that they only defeat their cause when their wild actions are worse than the wrongs they are fighting against?—RYAN

Dear Ryan:
That most of the "love and peace" generation are fairly native of Shover Springs, Mr. peaceful dissenters has been proven by scores of non-violent demonstrations, several of the largest staged this spring at Washington, D.C.

But one bad move, magnified by a few firebrands can throw firebrands that destroy irreplaceable research or property worth thousands of dollars.
And the blame falls on ALL. Most of us are for free speech: Dissent brings needed changes, unless it erupts into mob action. Then violence brings reprisals, and the cause is lost. Youth knows this, having seen it happen many times.
It seems to me that young people themselves could do a better job of policing the destructionists. Peaceful students far outnumber rioters and burners. So why do they allow the few to tear down their colleges?
When the majority realizes it can stop the minority cold by sheer weight of numbers, universities may get back to the business of education again.—H.
P.S. Right here is a good time to mention a new political club called THE PARTY. Says the Director, "The Party" welcomes students against tyranny and extremism of all kinds on the right and left. We like to be thought of as the "voice of the silent majority."
For further information, write to THE PARTY, Box 6062, Sacramento, California, 95860.—H.

Pryer Flays Nursing Home Lobby

By JAMES R. POLK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressman charges the government is "buckling under to pressures of nursing home lobbyists" by failing to insist on adequate care for the elderly.
Rep. David Pryor, D-Ark., a sharp critic of nursing homes who went inside them to work as a weekend aide earlier this year, peppered his House speech Wednesday with examples of patient neglect.
Pryor blasted a Department of Health, Education and Welfare decision to drop its federal standards for intermediate care facilities. He said aged patients were being made victims of "power politics and an apathetic bureaucracy."
However, Welfare Administration John D. Twinn said the change this week is meant only to give states more flexibility in setting their own standards and will not result in any reduction in the quality of care.

The 35-year-old congressman, who is pushing legislation for a House probe of nursing homes, cited letters from patients' relatives that included these cases:
1. In Elizabethton, Tenn., a woman whose husband was moved from a hospital to a nursing home found him tied with blankets to a wet bed and dying.
Pryor said no help came for 15 minutes when the wife rang the bedside buzzer. When she asked the nurse to call a doctor, no one came. The wife had the husband taken by ambulance to a hospital, where he was pronounced dead.
2. In Laurens, N.Y., a daughter found her aged mother unconscious. The nurse told her, "You know your mother is very ill and doesn't have long to live — we can't call the doctor over every little thing."
When the daughter called a doctor herself, he found the patient suffering from an extreme case of insulin shock, Pryor said, as a result of a failure to adjust the dosages of medicine properly.
3. In Swanton, Ohio, another woman who found her mother becoming fuzzy-minded and not eating discovered that she and other patients were "being kept under the influence of sedatives and drugs so the help would not be bothered."
4. In Hot Springs, Ark., a dietitian in a nursing home said the trays were washed by a patient with tuberculosis, and a container with excrement from soiled diapers was left uncovered, swarming with flies, just outside the kitchen.
5. In Dallas, Tex., a nurse told Pryor food was skimpy and drug prices were doubled at one modern home, but the facility always passed medicare check-ups because it was told in advance when government inspectors were coming.
Drownings claim 7,000 lives each year in the United States, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica.

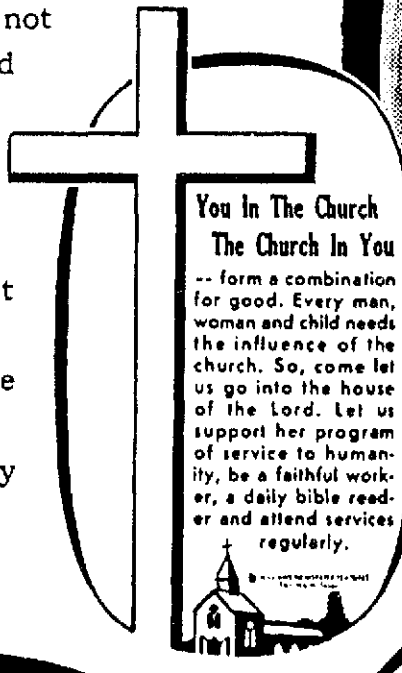

STRENGTHEN THROUGH

FAMILY TIES REGULAR WORSHIP

LOVE at FIRST SIGHT

Remember, when you watch small children play, that they are among the greatest of God's gifts to the world. He holds a "special love" for them all... love at first sight. "Take heed," Jesus once said, "that ye despise not one of these little ones." Divine regard was also made clear when the Disciples ask of Jesus: "Who is the greatest in the kingdom of Heaven?" Every man should well know the parable Jesus used that day to teach them the place He holds in His kingdom for our little ones. Oh, Lord, may we show our love by taking them to church, by teaching them that God's way should be their way, that they are the greatest in the kingdom of heaven.

Cubs Take Padres By 7-1 Tally

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

If runs and double plays are a pitcher's best friends, Bill Hands of the Chicago Cubs isn't lacking for companionship this season.

The right-hander, who won 20 games and was one of the few bright spots in the Cubs' stretch collapse last year, got some of each Thursday night in turning back the San Diego Padres 7-1 and boosting his record to 8-4.

The double plays cropped up when Hands needed them most. The Padres had tied the score 1-1 in the last of the first and had the bases loaded, but Hands induced Ivan Murrell to bounce into an inning-ending double play.

A single and a walk had Hands in trouble to start the second, but Jim Hickman started a snappy first-to-third-to-second twin killing on Mike Corkins' bunt and Hands fanned Dave Campbell. Then he settled down.

Elsewhere in the National League, Montreal turned on Cincinnati 8-4, Los Angeles outlasted St. Louis 2-1 in 12 innings and Atlanta defeated Philadelphia 6-4.

In the American League, Baltimore clobbered California 9-1, Cleveland shaded Oakland 6-5 in 10 innings and Detroit whipped Milwaukee 6-2. Washington at Kansas City was rained out.

An error and three walks gave the Cubs a run in the first and they added two more in the second off Corkins on Cleo James' single, Hands' sacrifice, Glenn Beckert's run-scoring single and Billy Williams' RBI double.

Hands hit a sacrifice fly in the third and Jim Hickman hammered his 14th homer in the sixth following a Williams single. The Cubs got their final run in the seventh on doubles by James and Paul Popovich.

Hands scattered six hits, struck out one batter in each of the first eight innings and snapped a personal two-game losing streak.

The difference between this year and last, when Hands got off to a 5-5 start, is the runs the Cubs are scoring for him.

"All these runs being scored for me this year should be a good omen. I've always been a notoriously slow starter. And I have had a few mediocre performances that have turned out well because of the strong support."

Maury Wills opened the Dodgers' 12th with a single, took second on Frank Linzy's wild pitch and scored the winning run on a double by Willie Davis to topple the Cardinals.

Starters Don Sutton of Los Angeles and Steve Carlton of St. Louis battled through 10 innings locked in a 1-1 tie. The Cards scored in the fourth on singles by Richie Allen and Joe Torre and Joe Hogue's sacrifice fly and the Dodgers tied it up in their half of the inning on Manny Mota's second homer of the season.

The Expos rocked 11-game winner Jim Merritt for five runs in the first inning and stopped the Reds' latest winning streak at five games, handing the left-hander his fourth setback.

Don Hahn and Rusty Staub started the onslaught with doubles and Adolfo Phillips and Coco Laboy singled before John Bateman unloaded his fourth home run, a three-run shot.

Aided by homers from the bats of Tony Perez, No. 22, and Johnny Bench, No. 19, the Reds chipped away at Carl Morton, 6-3, and got to within 5-4 but Bob Bailey belted a two-run pitch homer in the sixth to put the game out of reach.

Old Hoyt Wilhelm choked a seventh-inning Philadelphia rally with a double play pitch that helped the Braves beat the Phillies.

Northrup Gets 8th Grand Slam

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's been a long time between grand slam homers for Jim Northrup but the slugger center fielder of the Detroit Tigers might have started something with his big blow against Milwaukee.

Northrup ripped his eighth career grand slam Thursday night, snapping a 2-2 tie and sending the Tigers to a 6-2 triumph over Milwaukee. The blow came off left-hander John O'Donoghue, who entered the game just to pitch to the lefty swinging Northrup.

In the only other scheduled American League games, Baltimore crushed California 9-1 and Cleveland nipped Oakland 6-5 in 10 innings. The Washington at Kansas City contest was called by rain.

In National League action, Montreal belted Cincinnati 8-4, Atlanta downed Philadelphia 6-4, the Chicago Cubs whipped San Diego 7-1 and Los Angeles edged St. Louis 2-1 in 12 innings.

The 30-year-old Northrup, in his sixth major league campaign, last clouted a grand slam in 1968 when he ripped four in regular season play and added another in the sixth game of the World Series against St. Louis.

With Detroit's triumph Thursday night, the Tigers went over the .500 mark with a 27-26 record and remained nine games behind East Division leader Baltimore, riding to their third straight victory.

And if Northrup's clout is an omen... — the Tigers were the world champions in 1968 but finished second last year when the 6-foot-2 190-pounder was blanked in the grand slam department. Also, Denny McLain, Detroit's ace right-hander returns for action in less than three weeks.

The two-time Cy Young award winner, coming off a half-season suspension, is scheduled to start against the New York Yankees on July 1.

Northrup, now batting .283 with eight homers and 31 RBI, helped the Tigers tie the game at 2-2 in the seventh when he scored after walking and moving to second on a sacrifice. He came home on loser Gene Brabender's wild pickoff attempt at second.

Winner Joe Niekro, 6-5, scattered seven hits but needed ninth inning relief help before Milwaukee was subdued.

The Orioles slammed four homers, including a three-run shot by Dave Johnson and got two-hit pitching from Mike Cuellar in stopping the Angels.

Merv Rettenmund, Frank Robinson and Boog Powell also ripped round-trippers for the Orioles. It was Powell's 17th of the season, giving him the AL lead. Cuellar, 7-4, issued a first inning double to Jarvis Tatum and a single by Sandy Alomar in the third.

Chuck Hinton clubbed a two-run pinch homer in the ninth to tie the score and rookie Roy Foster slammed another two-run blow to give the Indians their victory. Jack Heideman and Eddie Leon also crashed homers for Cleveland.

Elliott New Director at Iowa Univ.

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Chalmers B. "Bump" Elliott, named athletic director at the University of Iowa Thursday, has a good head start toward winning the devotion of Hawkeye football fans — who are both legion and vociferous.

Elliott, 45, became popular with many fans during five years (1952-56) as an assistant Iowa football coach under Forest Evashevski, the man he will replace as athletic director and who recommended him for the job.

"My wife and I have reflected many times on our fine years at Iowa City," Elliott told a news conference after his appointment was approved by the State Board of Regents Thursday. "I'm deeply honored to return to Iowa as athletic director."

Elliott left Iowa in 1958 to return to his alma mater, the University of Michigan, as a backfield coach. He was promoted to head coach in 1958 with the retirement of Bennie Oosterban.

He coached the Wolverines to a nine-year record of 51-42-3, including Big Ten and Rose Bowl championships in 1964, before taking over as Michigan associate athletic director in 1968.

Golfers Go For Cash in PGA Tourney

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Kathy Whitworth and Mary Mills, a pair of veteran golfers with dollar signs instead of stardust in their eyes, shared the lead today with Shirley Englehorn and JoAnne Gunderson Carner in hot pursuit in the $30,000 Ladies PGA championship.

Misses Whitworth and Mills, both former champions, whipped rolling terrain, mammoth but lightning fast greens and tricky winds for four-under-par 69s Thursday in the opening round of the 72-hole event at the Pleasant Valley Country Club.

Miss Englehorn, runnerup to Miss Whitworth for the LPGA title here in 1967, settled down after three straight bogeys and finished with a 70 in launching a bid to tie Mickey Wright's record of four consecutive tournament victories.

Mrs. Carner, a five-time U.S. amateur champion who decided late last year, at the age of 31, it was time to take a real crack at the pros, was settled nicely only two strokes off the pace with 71.

Locked in a tie with par 73s were Judy Kimball, Sandra Haynie, Gerda Whalen, Sharron Moran, Sandra Palmer, Pam Barnett, and local favorite Jane Blalock, former New England champion who abandoned her schoolteaching career in New Hampshire to become a pro last year.

Defending champion Betsy Rawls, the winner at Kiamasha Lake, N.Y., a year ago, and 1968 titlist Sandra Post Elliott, an upset playoff victor over Miss Whitworth, were far back with 77 and 78 respectively.

Donna Caponi, the 1969 U.S. Open queen, also had 78.

"My putting came back to me today," said Miss Whitworth, who has won three tournaments at Pleasant Valley en route to becoming the all-time top money winner on the LPGA tour. "I needed only 29 putts and that's really something because of the way I've been going."

Kathy picked up birdies on the seventh and eighth holes, at Pleasant Valley en route to becoming the all-time top money winner on the LPGA tour. "I needed only 29 putts and that's really something because of the way I've been going."

Kathy picked up birdies on the seventh and eighth holes, but then took a double bogey six when she hooked into trees on the ninth fairway, finishing the front nine in par 36. She got an eagle three with a 40-foot putt on the 10th green and went on to cut four strokes from par on the back nine.

Doubles—W. Parker, Los Angeles 20; Wynn, Houston 17.
Triples—4 tied with 7.
Home runs—Perez, Cincinnati 22; Bench, Cincinnati 19; McCovey, San Francisco 19.
Stolen bases—Wills, Los Angeles 21; Bonds, San Francisco 4.

The championship is up for grabs since last year's winner, Arizona State, failed to gain a return trip.

Tonight's losers will meet in the double-elimination, eight-team tournament Saturday afternoon.

The first round will be completed with a two-night twinbill Saturday which sends the Florida State Seminoles, 45-7, against the Arizona Wildcats, 44-16, and the Dartmouth Indians, 23-8, against the Iowa State Cyclones, 18-9.

For the first time games are scheduled Sunday. The meet is expected to run for about one week.

U.S.C.; Texas Favorites In NCAA Series

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Two tournament favorites, the Texas Longhorns and Southern California Trojans, open the College World Series tonight in a twilight doubleheader against teams making their first trips to the NCAA baseball showdown.

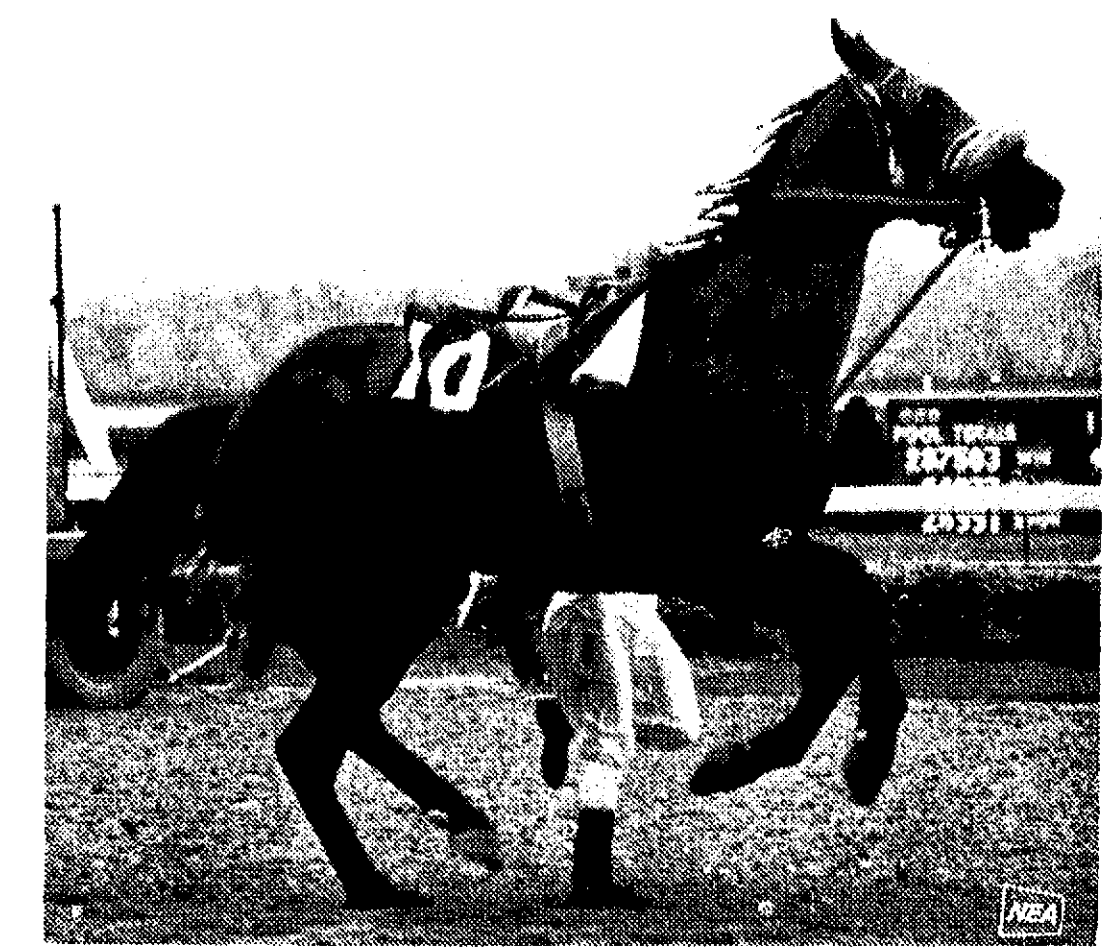

Texas, 36-6, will face the Delaware Blue Hens, 22-4, in the opener at Rosenblatt Stadium followed by USC, 47-14, playing the Ohio University Bobcats, 31-21.

Legal Fight Brewing In Seals Sale

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Legal maneuvering has blocked Charles O. Finley's plans to buy the Oakland Seals.

The price of the National Hockey League team also appears to have risen as a result of Thursday's court action. A written offer topping Finley's bid by $400,000 was presented on behalf of a group headed by Jerry Seltzer of Oakland, owner of the Roller Derby.

Finley's offer was $3.4 million and he would waive rights to $700,000 in NHL expansion money. Seltzer has offered $4.5 million.

Finley, owner of baseball's Oakland A's, currently is trying to get NHL approval as a potential franchise holder.

San Francisco Superior Court Judge Robert H. Schnacke was to have made the sale to Finley final Thursday, but a U.S. District Court judge issued a restraining order against sale of the team.

The restraining order said there should be no sale until a bankruptcy referee disposes of a petition filed by the group trying to cling to the team or to sell it for more than Finley's $3.4 million.

Trans-National Communications, Inc., is the current owner of the franchise—by a thread. In the petition filed in U. S. Bankruptcy Court Thursday, Trans-National asks more time to clean up its debts.

TNC, also owner of the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Association, bought the team a year ago from the original owners, a group headed by Florida sportsman Barry Van Gerbig.

On June 1, Judge Schnacke ruled TNC in default on loans connected with the sale and said the Van Gerbig group could resell the team to Finley.

Schnacke continued the case until Monday, when the bankruptcy hearing is also scheduled. The Seltzer offer will be considered, too, Schnacke said.

Sun Kings Win Over Travelers

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—The El Paso Sun Kings won their second straight game over the Arkansas Travelers here Thursday night by 15-10 in a 31-hit slugfest.

The Sun Kings scored six runs in the first inning, but Arkansas later had a six-run inning to lead 7-6 after three.

Arkansas got 16 hits and the Kings had 15.

Chip Coulter hit four times in four trips to the plate for El Paso and Wayne Dees hit a three-run homer for Arkansas in the Travelers' six-run third inning.

In other games, Memphis whipped Dallas-Fort Worth 8-3, Albuquerque shut out San Antonio 3-0 and Amarillo beat Shreveport 9-3.

Richey And King Face The British

By GEOFFREY MILLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Mrs. Billie Jean King and Nancy Richey faced Britain's two top women tennis stars today in the first stages of a bid to retain the Wightman Cup for the United States.

Mrs. King, former contract professional from Long Beach, Calif., was due to lead off for the Americans against Virginia Wade.

Miss Richey, from San Angelo, Tex., was paired against Mrs. Ann Jones, last year's Wimbledon champion.

Even British fans didn't rate their team's chances as very bright. Both Britain's top singles players have been showing erratic form.

Both Mrs. King and Mrs. Jones are old Wightman Cup campaigners. The American started playing for her country in 1961 and the English left-hander back in 1957.

But after 1967 when the United States won the Wightman cup at Cleveland, Ohio, both became professionals with George McCall's National Tennis League and were ineligible for the cup. Now they are no longer under contract to a promoter and Britain and the United States agreed to bring them back into the Wightman Cup ranks.

Mrs. Mary Ann Curtis of St. Louis, Mo., and Julie Heldman of New York City wind up the first day in a doubles against Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Joyce Williams.

Four more matches—three singles and a doubles—are scheduled for Saturday.

Since the competition was started in 1923 the Americans have won the cup 23 times and the British only seven times.

Pennsylvania Will Defend Oar Crown

By WILLIAM MORRISSEY
SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—The University of Pennsylvania's big crew, rowing its kind of race, sprinted and strained Thursday to a finals berth and a chance to defend its crown in the varsity eight-oar competition of the National Rowing Championships.

The Penn crew was doggedly followed along the 2,000 meter, or 1¼ mile, course on Onondaga Lake by the Dartmouth eight, which had jumped to an early lead but gave way within the first 500 meters in one of the three heats.

Jones Wins Baja 500 in Record Time

ENSENADA, Mexico (AP) — Parnelli Jones ran away from his reputation as a pedestrian in the Baja's rugged off-road races, outdistancing the opposition in record-smashing time.

"Winning is the only way," the 36-year-old veteran driver from Torrance, Calif., said Thursday after doing just that in the Baja 500, winning the 557-mile race in 11 hours, 55 minutes.

Jones, former Indianapolis 500 winner, averaged 46 miles per hour in a Bronco Pony. Owner-builder Bill Stroppe was along as navigator.

They destroyed the old mark of 15 hours set last year by Bud Ekins and Guy Jones of Sherman Oaks, Calif., in an Oldsmobile Baja Boat.

In four other Baja California racing attempts, including last year's Bajw 500, Jones' machines failed to hold up under the strain.

"I've probably got a reputation of being a crazy driver — one who just wants to go flat out," he said. "... and that's not completely so."

"Usually something would go wrong with the engine or the axle. I never crashed them. I like to finish like anybody else."

While Jones was the overall winner, the first to cross the finish line was a motorcycle in 12 hours, 36 minutes. Bill Silverthorn of Lemon Grove, Calif., and Gene Felty of El Cajon, Calif., took turns driving the Husqvarna bike.

Motorcycles were early starters in the race over mountains and deserts. The 240 machines of all descriptions started Wednesday at one-minute intervals.

Race officials said final results will not be available for at least a week.

Belmont Race To Determine Invitations

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Most of the best grass course runners in the country will be in action at Belmont Park Saturday in a race that will help determine invitations to the United Nations Handicap at Atlantic City in September.

A bulky field of 14 looms for the $50,000 Bowling Green Handicap at 1½ miles over the Widener Turf Course.

Paul Mellon's durable Fort Marcy is the topweight at 127 pounds with Czar Alexander at 126 and Drumtop next at 120.

After that comes Hitchcock at 118, Jungle Cove 117, Semilant 116, One For All 115 and King of the Castle and Beau Brummel, each at 114.

Rounding out the probables are Nez Perce at 112, Champion, Tradesman and Rhineland II at 111 and Treasure Hunt at 110.

The Bowling Green and another $50,000 grass race, the Cincinma Handicap for 3-year-olds at Hollywood Park, headline the weekend thoroughbred card.

Elsewhere there is the $25,000 Long Branch Stakes at Monmouth Park, the $25,000 Keystone Handicap at Liberty Bell Park, the $25,000 Olympic Handicap at Arlington Park and three $20,000 offerings, the Christian Stakes at Delaware Park, the Stars and Stripes at Suffolk Downs and the Pacifica Stakes at Golden Gate Fields.

Exonerating Mrs. O'Leary

To file away for reference on some future anniversary of the Oct. 8, 1871, Great Chicago fire: Mrs. Patrick O'Leary's cow was not - repeat, not - the culprit. Mrs. O'Leary's granddaughter says so.

As a matter of fact, witness deponeth, it didn't happen that way at all. Mrs. O'Leary did not milk by lantern light - but always at 4:30 p.m., before dark. As further matters of fact, she was not a widow, and did not take in washing.

The long-standing explanation now has been refuted, and a canard lifted. But please don't let it affect the central premise of annual emphasis: 4:30 p.m., is the safest time to milk, and don't fool around with a lighted lantern in the barn. - Nashville (Tenn.) Banner

7 Indicted in Swiss Arms Scandal

BERN, Switzerland (AP) — The federal prosecutor's office, completing a probe of neutral Switzerland's largest arms scandal, announced today seven persons have been charged in connection with the allegedly illegal export of $20,620,000 worth of war materiel to South Africa, Israel, Nigeria and three Arab countries.

The announcement came almost 20 months after government investigators began looking into sales by Oerlikon-Buehler A.G. of Zurich, the country's biggest weapons manufacturer. Switzerland has an official embargo on arms exports to countries at war or threatened by conflict.

South Africa, according to previous announcements, received the bulk of the shipments, $12.3 million worth of arms. Israel received $4.4 million worth, with Egypt, Saudi Arabia, Lebanon and Nigeria sharing the rest.

The equipment included air-to-air rockets, cannon and ammunition.

An official of the federal justice and police department said the seven charged included Dr. Dieter Buehler, head of the family-owned company, and three executive officers, director Gabriel Lebedinsky, vice director Alexandre Gelbert and Max Meili.

ASU Trustees Are Against Proposal

Two members of the Arkansas State University Board of Trustees will attempt at a July 13 meeting to stop a proposed trade of 100 acres of university land to the Arkansas Children's Colony.

Member Austin Temple of Crossett said he would make a motion to revoke a May 11 vote by which the board agreed to the trade in return for 200 acres on the western edge of Jonesboro and $75,000 to be raised by civic interests.

Member Russel Owen of Marked Tree said he would support Temple, the board secretary, who decided to make the move after Owen asked him in a letter to change Owen's vote on the original motion from "aye" to "no." The May 11 motion was adopted unanimously.

Owen wrote Temple June 4. Temple replied by return mail that changing the vote would be impossible but that he would reopen the matter in July.

Senate Vote To Curtail U.S. Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anti-war forces in the Senate have paved the way for expected approval of a proposal to curtail future U.S. actions in Cambodia, but the victory could be more symbolic than substantial because of continued White House and House opposition.

The Senate defeated 52-47 Thursday a key administration-backed amendment by Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., that proponents said would have emasculated the curb on presidential war powers. Both sides said the vote signified passage of the Cooper-Church amendment next week.

With the Byrd vote out of the way, the Senate turned its attention today to an amendment by Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., to cut all funds out of the military sales appropriation bill for gifts and credit sales of fire-arms or military equipment to other nations.

The appropriations measure has been the vehicle for the Cambodia limitation effort sponsored by Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky.

Williams also wanted to remove a section of the bill expressing congressional support for credit sales to Israel. But Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., blocked any quick vote on that.

Many strong supporters of the Cooper-Church amendment oppose the military sales authority provisions of the bill. Both the House and the Nixon administration have a diametrically opposite point of view.

Thus, the Cooper-Church forces in the Senate hope to use the administration's strong desire for the military sales authority as a lever on the House when the bill goes to conference, assuming the Senate approves it.

Church hailed Thursday's action as "a proud day for the Senate" and added:

"The vote was historic in the sense it represents the first time the Senate has undertaken to define the outer limits of a theater of war."

Sen. Cooper predicted defeat of other attempts to revise the amendment, expected to be offered next week by Byrd, and Sens. William B. Spong Jr., D-Va., and Charles Percy, R-Ill.

Boyle Says Heaven Is Losing Favor As Retirement Place

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Curbstone comments of a Pavement Plato:

Heaven is somewhat out of favor today as a final place of retirement. Many people are almost as appalled at the thought of going to heaven as their ancestors feared going to hell.

Why is heaven losing its appeal as an upper level space last resort for the deserving?

One reason may be that it is too segregated for avant-garde tastes. The idea of dwelling forever in a community unspeckled by sin repels some people who prefer to regard themselves as more tolerant of the faults of their wayward fellow man.

Another reason heaven has fallen out of favor is the widely expressed dread that existence there would be dull, monotonous and lacking in excitement. Given the possibility of an afterlife, a considerable segment of the population would rather return to earth as a chipmunk, a polar bear—or possibly a stallion—than spend eternity flapping their wings above the fleeing clouds.

The potential flaws of heaven have been pointed out by a number of distinguished critics.

"There are people who, if they ever reach heaven, will commence at once looking for their own set," said Josh Billings.

"In heaven, all the interesting people are missing," grumbled Friedrich Nietzsche.

Yes, all in all, what heaven needs most today is a good

58 Prisoners Released in Amman

Fifty-eight foreigners held hostage in Amman were reportedly released today, but Egypt's Middle East News Agency reported that a commando group was holding the widow of an American military attaché killed by guerrillas in the Jordanian capital earlier this week.

A guerrilla organization in Beirut announced that the radical Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine this morning released the 58 Americans, Britons and other foreigners it had held captive for more than 36 hours in Amman's two main hotels.

Diplomats in the Lebanese capital confirmed the report, but had no details. Regular communication channels with the Jordanian capital were still cut.

The American woman reported a prisoner of the commandos was the widow of Maj. Robert P. Perry of Chicago, an attaché of the U.S. Embassy in Amman who was killed by a group of guerrillas who invaded his residence Wednesday at the height of the fighting between the Palestinians and Jordanian troops.

Earlier reports said Mrs. Perry was killed, but the Egyptian report today made no mention of her children. Nor did it give the circumstances of the reported capture of the woman.

As the Palestine guerrillas refused to be satisfied by concessions from King Hussein of Jordan and made new demands, U.S. officials were preparing to evacuate about 400 Americans living in Jordan.

In Washington, the White House said only "precautionary planning" was being done. But a representative of the International Red Cross arrived in Amman today to arrange the evacuation, and three Lebanese jetliners were standing by in Beirut to fly the evacuees to Athens.

press agent. He could counter these withering critical blasts by pointing out the charms and attractions of heaven.

Such as:

Where on earth could you find such a splendid view?

Anybody who enjoys along after-dinner speeches could have one hell of a time in heaven.

Because of its altitude, heaven is completely free of the pollen from ragweed and other plants that cause hay fever.

The rent there is reasonable and the leases never expire.

There has never been a finer landlord.

You wouldn't have to walk the dog every morning and night.

What better place can you think of to go if you want to get away from it all including rock 'n' roll music?

The company needn't be everlastingly boring. You could always invite a devil to lunch during National Brotherhood Century.

You would have the pleasure of belonging to a minority guaranteed to remain nonviolent forever.

Your wife would be easier to get along with. She wouldn't have to act as family chauffeur, fix a broken vacuum cleaner, or worry about money problems.

There are no hangovers or hang-ups in heaven.

So, man, don't be in a hurry to turn your back on heaven. You may decide later—too much later—that's where you really want to go. Get on the roll call now.

Springdale Is Struck by Tornado Thursday Night; 25 Injured

SPRINGDALE, Ark. (AP) — A tornado, described by one witness as a block wide, hit this town of 18,000 and raked nearby settlements late Thursday night. Authorities reported one person killed and 26 injured.

The funnel dangled from a canopy of thunderstorms as it razed an apparently empty and rain-swept shopping center and then damaged a few nearby apartment buildings, overturned cars, and demolished several houses.

The storm brushed Oak Grove and Lincoln, tiny communities southwest of here, and Elm Springs, northwest of Springdale.

Police identified the victim as William E. Cauthorn, 55, of Oak Grove. His body was found in a field near his demolished house. His injured wife was found nearby.

The destruction in Springdale was situated mainly in an area of 10 to 12 blocks. Officials declined early today to estimate the monetary loss.

National Guardsmen, local law enforcement personnel and volunteers searched damaged houses, apartments and buildings in Springdale for injured persons.

Hugh Means, administrator of Springdale Memorial Hospital, said 26 persons were treated in the emergency room and 12 of them were admitted for additional care.

Local VoTec Members To Conference

Two members and two sponsors of the Rho Epsilon Chapter of Phi Beta Lambda left June 11 for Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, to attend the 19th Annual Phi Beta Lambda National Leadership Conference. Approximately 400 postsecondary school members and advisors from all over the United States are expected to be in attendance at the meeting.

Friendly competition will be generated at the Conference in the election of national officers for the 1970-71 school year and in a whole series of competitive events between chapters and between state delegations. Events include extemporaneous speaking, a vocabulary relay, parliamentary procedure demonstrations, and the selection of a Mr. and Mrs. Future Business Executive and Teacher. Awards for national winners will be presented at the Awards Program on June 15.

Walking tours have also been included for the Conference. These tours will take most of the historic sites of Philadelphia.

Miss Anne Ramsey, International Secretary of the year, and Colonel Harland Sanders will speak to the delegates at a special session. Special entertainment will be provided by the New Christy Minstrels, a popular singing group. Also, Johnny Mathis will be there for a special guest appearance.

Members of the Rho Epsilon Chapter will be participating in discussion groups, business meetings, and general sessions. They will be competing in the following events: Delores Brown of Hope, vocabulary, and Kenneth Willis, President of the local chapter, will have charge of the state exhibit and is a voting delegate. The local chapter has entered the Gold Seal Award for outstanding chapter activities and the outstanding Project Award. J. W. Rowe, Director of the Red River Vocational Technical School, and Miss Sandra Trexler, Instructor, will accompany the local students and two students from Henderson State College.

Phi Beta Lambda is the national youth organization for postsecondary school students who plan to enter careers in business or in business education. The national organization has chartered over 500 chapters in the United States and has membership of approximately 11,000 students.

tion care.

The injuries included a punctured lung, broken arms and fractured skulls, he said.

"We believe the area hardest hit has been pretty thoroughly searched and have no reason to believe any more major injuries will come to our attention," Means said early today.

The storm knocked down trees and disrupted electrical and telephone service in Springdale, which is 190 miles northwest of Little Rock.

Word of the storm's damage filtered out when listeners responded to an appeal by radio station KBRS in Springdale for anyone with a working telephone to notify the Associated Press.

The station, operating on diesel power, had inoperable telephones at the time. Curtis Horner, assistant manager, made the appeal, which resulted in a flood of calls to the AP's Little Rock bureau.

Enlistment Drop Could Be Trouble

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — An unexpected drop in Army enlistments last month could herald trouble for Pentagon hopes of cutting the draft to as low as 150,000 men this year.

The Army said enlistments in May totaled 7,629—nearly 3,500 below the month's objective.

Officials were unable to explain the drop, except to note a sharp upturn in antiwar demonstration during May as a result of the U.S. drive into Cambodia.

Defense officials indicated they will pay close attention to the trend in enlistments this month and next—when the end of school traditionally brings more volunteers—in hopes the situation rights itself.

Any deficit in enlistments is made up by increasing draft calls in future months.

The Pentagon Thursday announced a July draft call of 15,000 young men for the Army. Sources said this call would have been lower were it not for the unanticipated fall off in last month's enlistments.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has said draft inductions this year hopefully will fall as low as 150,000 men, compared with nearly double that, 290,000, in 1969.

Defense authorities are now saying the 1970 draft total probably will not drop that low and the Pentagon has started hedging somewhat on Laird's forecast, using an expected range of between 150,000 and 180,000.

If the enlistment situation gets back on the predicted track, draft calls could go down significantly in the last five months of 1970.

Quotas already announced for the first seven months of the year total 114,500. This leaves a balance of less than 36,000 to reach the 150,000 mark and nearly 66,000 if total inductions for the year climb to 180,000.

This would work out to monthly draft quotas as low as 7,000 plus from August through December—unless voluntary enlistments fail to recover their momentum.

With elections this fall, the Nixon administration would like to repeat its action of last year when it eliminated all drafting in November and December and concentrated the allotment for the last three months of 1969 in October.

The general level of draft calls this year is running well below those in most of 1969 because the administration has been cutting the size of the U.S. armed forces.

Total U.S. armed strength now stands at a little over 3.1 million men, some 400,000 men below the Vietnam war peak reached two years ago.

Laird hopes to cut the forces by another 600,000 men over the next two years.

Capital Is Attacked by Red Troops

By JOHN T. WHEELER
Associated Press Writer
PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Faced with sharply increasing pressure from the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese, the Cambodian government has reluctantly decided to cede almost half the country to Communist control, well informed diplomatic sources reported today.

Western Military Experts termed the decision hardheaded and realistic. They said that even by concentrating its forces around Phnom Penh and northwest of the capital, the government will have only about a 50-50 chance of surviving the next four or five months of monsoon rains.

The government reported today that a strong Communist force attacked Kompong Speu, 30 miles southwest of Phnom Penh on the only highway open to Cambodia's major port. Enemy troops also made a strong attack 50 miles northeast of Phnom Penh in what could be the prelude to new assaults on the key Mekong River town of Kompong Cham. Spokesmen said the fighting at Slem Reap, near the Angkor temple ruins, had died down, but strong enemy forces were still in the area.

The diplomats said Premier Lon Nol's government, in assessing its prospects, had written off the extensive eastern territory in which U.S. and South Vietnamese forces have been operating. With its army and strategic reserves already spread dangerously thin, the sources said the government realizes that much of the area east and south of Phnom Penh will revert to Communist control if the U.S. and South Vietnamese leave.

Already the government has lost control of vast areas in the northeast and the situation there worsens almost daily. But the area around Phnom Penh and the rice belt stretching northwest around the giant Tonle Sap lake will be defended at all costs, diplomatic sources said.

They said this is also true of Battambang and Slem Reap, two provincial capitals west and north of the Tonle Sap. Both cities are military regional headquarters and are astride the only roads to Thailand. These roads may become the government's lifeline to the outside world in the months to come.

Reports from Kompong Speu indicated the fighting was still going on. A government spokesman said he considered the attack a threat to Phnom Penh, even though the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese have penetrated much closer to the capital in the past.

Kompong Speu is 30 miles southwest of Phnom Penh on Route 4, the only highway still considered open between the capital and the port of Kompong Som. Kompong Som—Sihanoukville until Prince Norodom Sihanouk was deposed in March—is on the Gulf of Siam 120 miles southwest of Phnom Penh.

The program will begin at 8 p.m. and there will be an admission charge of 50¢ with all proceeds to go for repairs on the community building. Sponsors are the Corinth Extension Homemakers.

Passerby Helps Foil Burglary

An attempted burglary was foiled Thursday at 8:40 p.m. at Crow-Burlingame Co. when a passerby in a car spotted a man under the awning at the front of the store.

The front window had already been broken and when the passerby stopped to investigate, the would-be burglar ran.

City officers Ward and McCulley investigated.

Release of Ambassador Is Promised

By GEORGE HAWRYLYSHYN
Associated Press Writer
RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — The Brazilian government said Thursday night that it would do all it could to obtain the safe release of West German Ambassador Ehrenfried von Holleben, kidnapped by leftist terrorists who killed a Brazilian security guard and wounded two others.

The military government of President Emilio Garrastazu Medici was expected to meet the kidnappers' demand that political prisoners be exchanged for the 61-year-old diplomat. But pamphlets left by the kidnappers did not say what prisoners they wanted or even how many.

Von Holleben was snatched by about eight young people Thursday evening as he was returning home in his chauffeur-driven Mercedes Benz.

As the car rounded a sharp turn two blocks from the ambassador's residence, his youthful abductors shot out a street light, rammed the front of his car with a jeep and machine gunned a station wagon carrying security men behind the Mercedes, witnesses said.

Two young armed men then forced their way into von Holleben's car, gunning to death a Brazilian security agent in the front seat as he reached for his pistol. While others covered the two wounded security men who had been in the station wagon, the ambassador was dragged from his car and driven away in a waiting Chevrolet.

The ambassador's Brazilian driver was not hurt.

A blonde woman strewn packets of pamphlets on the street, then she and the kidnappers fled in at least three cars.

EDA Grant for Yellville

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John Paul Hammerschmidt, R-Ark., announced today that the Economic Development Administration has approved a $456,300 grant, a $179,000 loan and an $89,610 bonus for Yellville.

The Congressman also said the Ozarks Regional Commission is making a grant of $179,220 to Yellville and that the Federal Water Quality Administration has approved a grant of $81,300. The funds are to be used to help enlarge the community's sewer and water system.

Casualties Increase in Cambodia

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese forces have lost more men in the five weeks since the Cambodian offensive began than in any similar period in the Vietnam war, and U.S. battle deaths for the same five weeks are the highest in 10 months.

Weekly casualty figures compiled from May 3 through last Saturday list 3,326 government troops killed in action and 8,500 wounded in both Cambodia and South Vietnam. U.S. losses in both countries in that time were 811 killed and 4,970 wounded.

The allies claim to have killed 17,952 enemy in that same period—more than 10,000 in Cambodia—but the methods of gathering these figures are often challenged.

The previous record for South Vietnamese battle deaths for any five-week period was during the enemy's nationwide Tet offensive. That was in 1968, and from late January through most of February 3,158 government troops died.

The last time Americans suffered greater battle casualties was in a five-week period was from late July through August when 854 were killed and 6,029 wounded during an enemy high point.

The figures show that while a great part of the allied losses occurred in the Cambodian fighting, over-all casualties in South Vietnam continued at about an average rate, dropping off in the 3rd and 4th Corps tactical zones and rising in the northern 1st Corps area.

Thousands of allied troops have moved into Cambodia from the 3rd Corps zone around Saigon and 4th Corps south of the capital. Those remaining behind have been chiefly in a defensive posture. This accounts for the lower casualties in these zones.

Committee Approves 3 Agencies

By JIM ADAMS

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill creating three consumer agencies—described by the measure's chief architect as "the first balance wheel inserted into the market place in 50 years"—has been unanimously approved by a House subcommittee.

Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., said the new agencies will give the consumers a voice in the federal government and the courts.

The agencies are essential, he said, because federal regulatory agencies "have become clients of the industries they're supposed to regulate."

The bill, a compromise between proposals by the Nixon administration, Rep. Florence P. Dwyer, R-N.J., and Rosenthal, would:

—Make Virginia Knauer's Office of Consumer Affairs a permanent White House agency with expanded powers to protect consumer interests in government programs, conduct investigations, relay consumer complaints to appropriate agencies and publish a Consumer Register with such information as product testing results.

—Create an Independent Consumer Protection Agency to represent citizen interests in all pertinent government and court proceedings except criminal cases.

—Create a 12-member Consumer Advisory Council to advise the White House office and protection agency on the effectiveness of laws and federal programs involving consumer interests.
